

Here I submitted a GET request that was successful. I used json.placeholder. The challenges I faced were minimal but I did have trouble realizing its just advanced cypress with some of the work done for you.

Here I did a successful POST request using json.placeholder. There were definitely challenges a big one was I realizing I use javascript for the body. So the brackets were missing.

Here I did a successful Delete request using json.placeholder. A big challenge was setting the parameters. I didnt realize the code in url changed in the way it did.
